

Alexandra Zimany Day of Stow, MA died September 2, 2011 at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center in Lebanon, New Hampshire, surrounded by family and friends after sustaining a serious injury. Sandra , or “Sandy” as she was known by some of her friends and loved ones, was the loving wife of Arthur C. Day.

Sandra was born in New York City, July 4, 1945, the daughter of the late Dorothy (Timpson) and Dr. Alexander Zimany. After graduating college at Bucknell University, she then received an Electrical Engineering Degree from Pennsylvania University. She worked as a Marketing Manager for Digital Equipment Corp. for over 20 years and while employed by Digital, attended Harvard University for additional post-graduate education.

Sandra loved to read and travel the world both in a business framework and for pleasure. Sandra was a kind, generous and vivacious person who lived life to the fullest and took pride in helping other people through her volunteer work as an Emergency Medical Technician for the Stow Fire Dept. and more recently as a Therapy worker in several local hospitals with her beloved Golden Retriever dogs.

She enjoyed entertaining for and with her family and with her many wonderful friends both in the Stow, MA area and during the summer at Lake Mascoma in Enfield, New Hampshire.

In addition to her husband, Arthur Day, Sandra is survived by her brother, Richard Timpson Zimany and his wife Mary E. Zimany, her stepdaughter Karen (Day) Pierce and husband Matthew Pierce, and nieces and nephews, Lea R. and Steven A. Zimany and Vassar and Emily Pierce, all of whom loved her so much. She is predeceased by her stepson the late Arthur “Carey” Day Jr.

A memorial service celebrating the life of Alexandra will be held at the Boxborough UCC Church, 723 Mass Ave. in Boxborough MA at 5 p.m. on Friday, September 9, 2011.

Memorial contributions may be made to The Stow Fire Department at 16 Crescent Dr. Stow, MA 01775, Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center, where the staff put forth a huge and exceptional effort to help her get well, Development Office, One Medical Center Dr. Lebanon, NH 03756 or to Yankee Golden Retriever Rescue, 110 Chapin Road, Hudson MA.
